

St. John Trauma Center Tulsa, Oklahoma

Make your next career move to one of America's most beautiful cities!

The St. John Trauma Center in Tulsa, Oklahoma provides evidence based trauma care to patients in Northeastern Oklahoma, Southern Missouri, Kansas and Arkansas. The trauma center is a collaboration of the Emergency Department, Surgical Services and the Neuro Trauma Surgical Intensive Care Unit.

The trauma center is verified as a Level II center by the American College of Surgeons and is lead by Our Trauma Medical Director. It is based in the only Magnet designated facility for nursing excellence in the region.

The Trauma Program Manager is a clinically competent RN with 5 years of emergency and/or surgical care nursing who is responsible for the day to day operations of the Trauma Service. Qualified candidate will have fiscal responsibilities for the efficiencies of the Trauma Service Unit. The Trauma Program Manager, in collaboration with the Trauma Medical Director, is responsible for the program assessment, planning, organizing, budgeting, implementation, performance improvement, and education of the trauma service staff. Responsible for monitoring the performance of the Trauma Services Associates and meeting all Joint Commission and American College of Surgeons requirements.

Seeking a leader with good Interpersonal relationship skills, the ability to implement change, good decision making and problem solving skill, teaching, consultative and research skills.

About Tulsa – With a metropolitan population of 900,000, Tulsa Oklahoma is annually named as one of America's most livable cities with cost of living index of 85, 15 points below the national average. Surrounded by rolling hills, lakes, parks, performing arts and year round festivals makes Tulsa a great place to live, work, and play.

Contact our Career Center at 1- 800-811-5017 or visit www.stjohnnursing.com
www.visittulsa.com